Introduction

Model statistics on the simple ideas of wealthy type. Direction for the edit.

I. Analysis of Wealth

Wealth is known by Marx to mean the richest and happiest lives compared to the poor and poorest people.

II. Actual Wealth Planning

How do you allocate finances and banking ideas to your wealth. What is called wealth management in Mondatum nowadays.

III. Ferrari at 30 and now at 1 we assure you

Enzo Ferrari, is then at 30 earlier because his wealth management got skewed to basic model cars and basic banking and housing plans.

Recently, helped by a young architect, Enzo argues he has his wealth again. He has sent us a photograph of working on art computers.

A lot of people believe Enzo Ferrari lives well all through. But he was slipped down to number 30 on the list of the richest and happiest. And that he explains is because of his wealth model becoming poorer and it was wealth policies getting poorer. He lost his creativity. Nowadays guided by a young son-in-law he has all his ideas back. He claims he sees himself living wineries and even Lufthansa flights to Madrid. He is sounding richer.

Most people think wealth is high ideas different from common people. And in fact Anil Aggarwal, the Indian recent boom capitalist says, we have all the highest ideas arranged for a wealth management plan. He is seen to be heroic in helping Ferari as well through architectural plans. One architectural plan they talk about is like a Christian village.

Statistics are now modelled, in earlier Ferrari living it was modelling to a middle wealth lifestyle, something like a rich life spent in normal ways. Now it models to the highest lifestyle in the world, all of this is potential earlier, recently they are acting on it. They can be seen talking on Facebook upgrade, about as Mark Zuckerberg argues “I love the new Facebook upgrade from the son-in-law as it were. He is rich and arrogant, and is about cinematic living curation and has many ideas on music events for us as well.” I would argue Mark himself fell from number 1 to number 40 recently in the 2015 period. He started in 2002 with number 1.
